Jessica Taylor serves as a CAAS Consulting Executive providing outsourced accounting and advisory support across a variety of industries. She works closely with organizations to deliver accurate, timely financial information while offering insights that support informed decision-making and long-term growth.

Jessica oversees monthly close processes, financial reporting, and account reconciliations, ensuring the integrity and reliability of financial data. Beyond reporting, she advises clients on financial performance, key metrics, and operational improvements, helping leadership teams better understand their business and identify opportunities to move forward with confidence.

In her role, Jessica leads engagement teams and manages client relationships, prioritizing responsiveness and high-quality service delivery. She also supports clients through complex accounting matters, including system optimization, process improvements, and transitions in accounting frameworks.

Jessica earned her Bachelor's degrees in Accounting and Finance from Arkansas State University.
